

Assignment - 28

→ 17 Can an abstract method have static qualities?
No, an abstract method cannot have a static qualities. Static methods belong to the class while abstract methods are meant to be overridden by subclasses.

→ 18 What kind of thread is the garbage collector thread?
- Garbage collector is a 'daemon thread'.
- It runs in the background & automatically frees memory by removing unreferenced objects.

→ 19 What is a daemon thread?
- Low priority thread that runs in the background.
- Provides support services to user threads.
- It terminates when all user threads finish execution.

Q1 What is use of finally block?

- It executes the code regardless of exceptions
- It is mainly used for cleanup operations such as closing files or releasing resource.

Q2 What is mutable & immutable object?

- mutable - Its state can be changed after creation
- Immutable - cannot be

Q3 Diff betⁿ String & StringBuffer object?

- 1) String : Immutable (Can't be changed after creation)
- 2) StringBuffer : mutable (can be modified)
- StringBuffer is more efficient for frequent string modifications.

Q4 What is base class for error & exception?

- The base class for both Error & Exception is Throwable class
- It handles all exceptional conditions in Java.

Q5 What are inbuilt packages in Java?

- java.lang : Core classes (String, Math, etc.)
- java.util : Data Structures, Collections
- java.io : I/p - o/p Operations
- java.sql : Database connecting.

Q6 Is Java a Compiler or interpreter?

- It is both.

- 1) Interpreter - executes bytecode line by line
- 2) JIT compiler - Compiles bytecode into native machine code for faster performance.

10]

What is use of final keyword ?

Used to restrict modifications :

- 1) final variable : makes variable constant -
 - 2) final method : cannot be overridden
 - 3) final class : cannot be inherited
-